Accused Co-ed Killer Writes Poetry in Jail

JEALOUSY, police think, might have been motive for murder of pretty 19-year-old Margaret Ann Jackson, University of Iowa psychology major whose strangled body was found in the room of Robert E. Bednasek, 24, a fellow student. Bednasek is held in the girls' murder at Iowa City. Friends say Miss Jackson and Bednasek had been engaged, but that she invited another boy to a party recently. This photo of the two was taken at a dance they attended last spring.

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Dec. 13—(AP)—A University of Iowa psychology student today turned to poetry as he waited in jail for a preliminary hearing in the strangulation slaying of a beautiful coed.

The hearing was set for Dec. 21 when the broad-shouldered Robert E. Bednasek, 24, was brought before Justice of the Peace C. J. Hutchinson here yesterday.

He is charged with the first degree murder of pretty Margaret Jackson, 20, whose body, clad in a white, strapless evening gown was found early Sunday in a men's rooming house.

No formal plea was entered for the senior student from Cedar Rapids, Iowa, but his lawyer in asking for a preliminary hearing said his client would plead innocent.

Bednasek has said he "loved that girl more than my life" and that she loved him.

Bednasek, in a signed statement released by County Attorney Jack White yesterday, said that he had his hands on the girl's throat just before his mind "went blank."

City Teachers Favor Federal School Aid

Members of the Washington C. H. City Teachers Association went on record Monday at their regular meeting in favor of federal aid to education.

The legislative committee submitted a resolution or recommendation which was adopted by the group. It stated:

"The Washington City Teachers Association urges passage of legislation which authorizes federal aid to education for public elementary and secondary education provided state and local control of such federal funds is retained."

A copy of the resolution was mailed to the legislative committee of the National Education Association.

Miss Ruth Stecher, president of the association, reported on the recommendations of the Ohio Education Association for state salary schedules and proposed changes in the teachers' retirement system.

She said the OEA urged teachers to assist CARE, an organization devoted to the relief of overseas victims of war devastation. A committee made up of members of the association was formed to further this activity, especially in the field of rehabilitation of schools in devastated areas.

Charles Pensyl, who was as a delegate to the Camp Muskingum conference for the teachers, reported on the activities of that group. He said teachers who attended got a broader vision and understanding of the workings of the various departments of the teachers' associations on the local, state and national level.

The meeting, Monday held in the Little Theatre at WHS, closed with expressions of sympathy for Miss Eleanor Leiter, high school librarian, whose mother died recently in Van Wert.

Runaway Pigs Are Back Home After Going on Spree in Town

CINCINNATI, Dec. 13—(AP)—The runaway pigs were back in their home pens today but five members of the Solar Hills Rangers (police officers) could claim no credit for the feat.

All the rangers could show for their two-hour chase of the five pigs were rain-soaked and mud-spattered uniforms.

The five porkers escaped last week from the pen of George Reinhart, who lives in the Mt. Washington-Coney Island section of Hamilton County.

They arrived at the farm of George Kramer last Friday and invaded his garage, wrecking it,

Pictures of familiar buildings in Washington C. H., will be taken soon for use on illustrative postcards it was reported by C. E. McCarley, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, at the C of C executive board meeting Monday night.

The postcards will be printed to replace those which have either been outdated or have disappeared completely from places of businesses which ordinarily handle them.

Some of the pictures can be taken to a better advantage during the winter months. These would include pictures of the Court House, the high school, Court Street and the National Cash Register plant.

In the springtime photographs of the new hospital, the new swimming pool and the churches of the city will be snapped for use on the cards.

McCarley said businesses here had received several requests for the cards. Now that the city has new construction going up it is a good time for new pictures, he said.

H. K. Skinner, an agency in Springfield which handles pictorial promotions, will take the pictures and print them on the cards. Walter Patton will handle their sale in his bookstore.

To Order Plaques

The Board of Directors authorized McCarley to order new Chamber of Commerce plaques, which indicate membership to the C of C and advise solicitors to clear through their local Chamber of Commerce.

The C of C secretary said he would order samples of green and silver plaques.

A report was made on the progress in moving the Chamber of Commerce sign located west of Washington C. H. on the CCC highway. McCarley said the sign, ordered out of a cornfield, has been moved to a spot adjacent to the CCC Drive in theatre.

Lumber has been ordered to repair it but the sign probably will not be painted until next spring.

A report was also made on the formation of a Newcomers Club in this city. A group of persons interested in getting the club started here met at the Hotel Washington last Friday and discussed first steps to take in forming the club. An authority on the clubs will be invited to meet with the group at a later date to give them more information on the subject.

Driver is Injured In Monday Mishap

Guy L. Bainter, 51, Frankfort, was rendered unconscious and sustained cuts and bruises when his car, headed eastward, was struck by an auto driven by Walter Brewer, 22, Cincinnati, on the Chillicothe Highway, at the Fairview Road intersection, at 4:30 P. M. Monday.

Bailey was following behind another car which turned into the Fairview Road, and when Bainter applied his brakes the back part of his car, swerved into traffic and the Brewer car struck the Bainter car, causing considerable damage to both vehicles.

Deputy Charles Foster investigated the accident.

Light Bulb Is Cause For Double Slaying

CINCINNATI, Dec. 13—(AP)—An argument over a light bulb ended in the slaying of a man and his wife last night, Police Lt. Lloyd Simon said.

Dead are Earl Palmore, 25, and his wife, Jean, 21.

Mrs. Palmore was telephoning police when a single shotgun blast struck her and her husband, the officer said.

The light bulb that started the argument had been removed from its socket in a bathroom used by several tenants, police said.

Claim of Judge Sites Rejected

Only One Justice of Peace Legal In Washington Township Is Ruling

The question of whether or not Washington Township, Fayette County, was to have two justices-of-the-peace, or one, caused quite a stir in county and city official circles Tuesday morning.

Records in the Probate Court, a certified copy of which is in the hands of Prosecutor Clark Wickensimer seem to have set the question at rest. The township is now only entitled to elect one such justice.

The matter came to a head Tuesday morning when city councilman and Police Judge Robert H. Sites appeared before Harold McLean, clerk of the Fayette County Board of Elections and demanded a certificate of election as a justice-of-the-peace in Washington Township.

Although his name was not printed on the ballots in the recent election, and he had filed no petition for the office, there were approximately 235 ballots on which his name had been written in.

S. P. Ludwick whose name did appear on the ballot received 1,569 votes.

Sites claimed that he, therefore, was entitled to act as a justice under the belief that two such officers had been provided for.

Clerk McLean explained that no certificate could be issued because there had been a court order which reduced the number of justices in the township from two to one. Sites stated that his attorney, W. M. Junk, had told him that a search of the court records had not disclosed any such order.

Prosecutor Wickensimer, however, investigated the matter and found in the records of the Probate Court in the civil docket, a court order which established such a reduction, upon application of T. E. Brown. The order was dated Aug. 30, 1945.

According to report, the city council that year took action to establish one justice for the township instead of two which had been the figure originally set by the Common Pleas Court when the township was first established some time before Washington township embraced only the territory which is within the corporate limits of Washington C. H.

According to Prosecutor Wickensimer the state law gives the Probate Court the authority to reduce or increase the number of justices within a township. The reduction therefore was made when the city authorities acted to cut expense within the township by a request for such a court order through Tolen Brown, who was a member of council and also at one time was county recorder.

Judge Sites stated Tuesday morning that he really didn't care about the office and only permitted his name to be written on ballots when a number of people urged him to be a candidate.

"It's not so important that I be made a justice-of-the-peace," said Sites. "I just didn't want to be pushed aside if I were entitled to the office."

Through wet brush that soaked them to the waist within minutes, hopeful townspeople plodded on today in their search for a 16-year-old girl scout missing two days.

Hundreds took part, fanning out in the rugged hills six miles north-east of here, an area overgrown with vines, brush and dripping evergreens—a cold, wet jungle with a slippery snow blanket.

More than two inches of snow have fallen since Ruth Aberle became lost while looking in the woods for a Christmas tree for a scout party.

The thermometer dropped below freezing Sunday night, and it was close to the freezing point last night. Woodsmen said there was little hope that the pert high

Quarrel over Dog Leads to Killing

CLEVELAND, Dec. 13—(AP)—A shotgun today killed a Cleveland who tried to make peace in a family quarrel over a hair-shedding dog which slept on its master's bed, police said.

Dead is Edward J. Nehls, 52. In custody is the victim's stepfather, Henry M. Scheffer, 72, an old age pensioner.

Detective Frank Dimperio said Scheffer fired after Nehls interceded in an argument between Scheffer and Mrs. Anna Scheffer, 69, his wife and mother of the victim.

Mrs. Scheffer had denounced her husband for letting Spotty, the family Spitz, sleep on his bed, Dimperio said.

"Nehls with his son, William, 16, had told the stepfather and his mother to stop arguing. When the two men started fighting, William and his grandmother pulled them apart.

Later when Nehls heard Scheffer muttering loudly to himself and the dog, he reentered the room, Dimperio said. As he opened the door, he was felled by a shotgun blast.

Spending Curbs Proposed by Herbert Hoover

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP)—A campaign for government reform today boiled down to an eight-point program drawn up by Herbert Hoover. He forecast it would save the taxpayers $2,000,000,000 a year.

The former president, addressing the national reorganization conference last night, predicted this fiscal year's $5,500,000,000 excursion into red ink may be exceeded in the following year.

"We may be turning two Frankensteins loose in the land," Hoover said. "Their terrifying names are 'higher taxes' and 'inflation.'"

The estimate of a $5,500,000,000 deficit for this fiscal year, ending next June 30, is President Truman's.

The two-day conference, sponsored by the non-partisan citizens committee for the Hoover report, neared its close today. Its wind-up schedule included presentation of an award to Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson for his "courageous efforts" at cost-cutting and unification in the military establishment.

Dr. Robert L. Johnson, national chairman, told the conference that "the public is being aroused, as at no time in our history to the necessity of adopting a fundamental, intelligent, reorganization program for the executive branch."

Hoover, who headed the official, 12-man reorganization commission which handed Congress 318 reorganization proposals last spring, advised the committee to focus its efforts on winning passage of only the "most urgent" items at the coming session of Congress.

He offered this list of objectives in approximate order of urgency: 1. Reorganizing the civil service where, he said, "at present Red Tape himself dwells."

2. Reorganizing the budget and accounting machinery in which "the ghost of Alexander Hamilton still wanders."

3. Setting up the post office as a modern business and removing it from politics by modernizing 160 years' accumulation of "conflicting laws."

4. Unifying the federal hospital service which, when investigated, had patients for only 155,000 of its 225,000 beds but was about to provide 50,000 more beds at a cost of $1,300,000,000.

5. Merging the water conservation services—"they overlap; they have duplicate offices x x x. A pork barrel floats in those rivers."

6. Consolidating the administration of grazing and forest lands in the Agriculture Department, instead of letting agriculture and interior maintain competing services and staffs.

7. Providing one central transportation agency to eliminate "overlap and waste" and to steer national policy in this field, vital to national defense.

8. Relieving the president of the burden of direct responsibility over 65 different agencies, and ironing out conflicting authorities between bureaus.

Low Cost Housing for Farms Unexpectedly Popular in Ohio

BY G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13—(AP)—Ohio's low cost housing program for the farmer is getting a running start, while the city section of the program remains stalled.

The Farmers Home Administration, handling loans to qualified farmers, said the plan seems so popular that it may be necessary to boost the fund scheduled for lending in Ohio between now and July 1.

The Public Housing Administration meanwhile is awaiting the outcome of a law suit before making any low cost housing loans to Ohio under the city section of the program.

Howard Bertsch, chief of the farm management section of the Farm Home Administration, said the rural program will cost only a fraction of what is proposed to be loaned in the cities.

He said $668,000 has been earmarked for lending in Ohio by July 1 for new construction and repair renovation of farm homes and other structures.

Bertsch added, however, that A. (Please turn to Page Twelve)

Ohio Grangers Told Its Aims Same As His

Production Subsidy Crux of Argument At State Meeting

COLUMBUS, Dec. 13—(AP)—The farm program recommended at the recent National Grange convention and the Brannan Plan have the same objectives, Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan said here last night.

He spoke at a pre-convention session of the Ohio State Grange's 77th annual meeting.

"With goals so similar, with differences so slight, I sincerely ask your further consideration on my farm program recommendations as the best path now open to agriculture," he said.

Under the Brannan plan, prices of perishable farm products would be allowed to seek their natural level. But if they fell below what was set to be a "fair return," the farmer would get the difference in a direct payment from the government.

Grange Program
The Grange farm proposals, Brannan said, call for:

(1) A stable, abundant production of farm commodities at prices which will enable both producers and consumers to attain a higher standard of living;

(2) Preservation and strengthening of the family-owned and operated farm unit;

(3) Conservation and most efficient use of our basic soil, water, forestry, and mineral resources;

(4) A program that will encourage farmers to attain farm ownership;

(5) A marketing and parity price structure that will maintain agriculture on a satisfactory, self-sustaining and stable basis, and

(6) Preservation of maximum freedom of choice by individual farmers in operation of their farms.

Brannan said that those also are his aims—"and have been all along."

Consideration Asked
He asked the Grangers to consider all resolutions adopted by the National Grange at its Sacramento, Calif., meeting and not to concentrate on the one that opposed his plan by name.

"I regret very much that our national organization went on record as saying it was against the department's recommendations without offering any supportable arguments against them," he continued. "Or without advocating any other specific means that are not already in use for doing the job, and without squarely facing the alternatives that remain."

Grange recommendations to prevent a possible farm price collapse were listed by Brannan as including special sales campaigns to sell surplus crops, flexible price supports backed by a two-price system and marketing agreements, and a stop-loss floor backed by government purchases or loans. The latter would be accompanied by marketing quotas, production controls, and production payments as a last resort.

"Well, that's practically what we've got right now, except for the production payments which I have asked as necessary to support perishables," he said. He added that up to now the Grange has opposed the payments.

Production Payments
Production payments provide the "most efficient direct, inexpensive, effective" means of averting a possible crash of perishable commodities, he said.

"I think it is about time this was driven home to some of our farm organizations leaders who have consistently advocated and still do advocate subsidy by government purchase or loans, yet profess such horror at the mere thought of subsidy whenever production payments are mentioned."

When actual market prices fall below support levels, he said, one plan is just as much a subsidy to agriculture as the other.

Brannan said that on Nov. 13 prices received by farmers had fallen 22 percent from the post-war peak and that they may decline still further next year.

The Ohio Grange convention opened this morning. Ohio Grange Master Joseph W. Fichter was due to present his annual report this afternoon.

Jewish Religion Explained Here

Rabbi Zelizer Speaks at Church

The highlights of Jewish religion, life and history were presented to a gathering of more than 50 people at the First Presbyterian Church, Monday night.

Speaking to the group was Rabbi Nathan Zelizer, of Columbus.

The members of the Graduate and Beta Sigma sororities and the Leadership Training Class of the church listened attentively for more than two hours as Rabbi Zelizer explained his religion and answered questions put to him.

After explaining the three branches of the Jewish religion, reform, conservative and orthodox, Rabbi Zelizer described the functioning of his conservative synagogue in Columbus.

In Judaism, he explained, there is a close tie between the home and the synagogue. As an example he pointed out the custom of Jews coming to the synagogue every year on the anniversary of the death of a kin relationship to recite certain prayers.

Traditions Illustrated
Displaying several items he brought along with him, Rabbi Zelizer also described the traditional Jewish household and home life.

As to the many Jewish customs and traditions, the Rabbi said that they have acted as a binding force to the Jews throughout the ages.

"Many of them had a hygienic origin," he said. The abstinence from eating pork was given a religious sanction in Biblical times to preserve the health of the Jews in the Holy Land, he explained.

"Today," he said, "the hygienic reason no longer exists, but the custom is still practiced in order to remind the Jews of their heritage."

Reading excerpts from Jewish prayers taken from the Old Testament, Rabbi Zelizer brought out some of the basic precepts of his religion.

"The first of them," he explained, "is that God is one, and that man is made in the image of God and is therefore also one."

'Religion of Ideas'
He also said that the Jewish religion was a religion of "ideas and not men."

In the question and answer period, Rabbi Zelizer was asked the reason for the persecution of the Jews throughout the ages.

He said that there were many factors involved, but that the basic reason was the reason for all hate: "When we see someone different from ourselves and we do not get to know and understand them," he said, "any reason can be fabricated to whip up hatred."

"This is true of Jew and Gentile alike," he said.

Such misconceptions as "all Jews are bankers" are errors of stereotyping, he said. He explained that in this case, only a half of one percent of the bankers in this country are Jews. He said that if the number of Jewish bankers were proportionate to the number of Jews in the total population that the percentage would have to be three percent.

As an example of what understanding will do, Rabbi Zelizer told of his experience with the G.I.s who went into Japan.

Before they landed, he said, many of them felt that they would like to kill the first Jap that they saw. After seeing some of them who had lost relatives in the atomic bomb raids still act friendly, he said the G.I.s began to give them food they got from the canteen and to help the old ladies cross the street.

Rabbi Zelizer said that peace in the world will never come as long as lack of understanding breeds economic jealousy and suspicion based on cultural differences.

As primus of the Graduate sorority which invited Rabbi Zelizer here, Mrs. Donald Moore welcomed the guests from the Beta Sigma sorority and the Leadership Training Class.

Final Tribute Paid Mrs. Ruth Morgan

Relatives and old friends gathered at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home here to pay their final tributes to Mrs. William Morgan, who died last week at her home in Springfield after a long illness.

Rev. Allen W. Caley, pastor of Grace Church, conducted the services at 10 A. M. Monday for Mrs. Morgan, who was Miss Ruth Craig, of Washington C. H., before her marriage.

The minister quoted from the Scriptures in his invocation, offered prayer and read the hymn "Lead Kindly Light."

Mrs. J. Rankin Paul, a lifelong friend, sang "Trees" and "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go." She was accompanied by Mrs. Marian Gage.

A memorial tribute, written by Mrs. Frank S. Jackson, Mrs. Morgan's sister, was read by Rev. Caley.

The minister took "Father Into Thy Hands I Commend My Spirit" (Luke 23:46) for the text of his funeral sermon.

The casket was borne to its final resting place in Washington Cemetery by Dr. F. D. Woolard, J. J. Kelley, Walter Thompson, R. Burris Tharp, Ronald Cornwell and Aublin Hedges.

The flowers that banked the casket as mute evidence of the esteem in which she was held, were arranged by eight of Mrs. Morgan's friends from Springfield:

The Nation Today

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—(P)—The government, which has been taking a national census since 1790, starts the 1950 census April 1.

At that time 140,000 census-takers will start knocking on all American doors, asking a number of questions. Of every fifth person they'll ask this:

How much is your income a year? For refusing to answer, you can be fined $100 or jailed for 60 days, or both. For giving false information, you can be jailed for one year or fined $500, or both.

If the census-taker or anyone else reveals the information you give, it's a felony and he can be fined $1,000 or jailed for two years or both.

And, census bureau officials say, the bureau cannot reveal information about you to any other government agency, such as the bureau which collects income tax, the Internal Revenue Bureau which collects taxes.

This same question about income was asked in the 1940 census. Then, if your income was over $5,000 you could say simply "over $5,000" and give no exact amount. If it was under $5,000, you were expected to say precisely how much.

In 1950, if your income is over $10,000, you can say "over $10,000" but if it's less, you're expected to say exactly how much.

In 1940, if you didn't wish to give your personal income figure to the census taker—perhaps because you feared he'd tell the neighbors—he provided you with a printed form and stamped envelope. In that way you could send the information directly to the bureau.

About 130,000,000 people were involved in the 1940 census. Only about 115,000 mailed in their income information. Can people answer by mail in 1950 if they don't want to tell the census-taker?

Census bureau officials say: They hadn't planned on it, because such a comparatively small number wanted to answer by mail in 1940 and printing the envelopes is expensive. But --

They said last night that, because of the storm kicked up about the income question by Republican congressmen, they'll probably provide for mail answers in 1950.

Yesterday 23 Republicans blasted the census bureau. They said the Truman administration "is perpetrating an outrageous discrimination against small-income people in the 1950 census." One of them Rep. Clarence Brown of Ohio, has demanded of Philip Hauser, acting director of the bureau, where he gets "legal authority" for the income question.

So far Hauser has not answered him. I could not reach Hauser last night. But I did talk to a number of census bureau officials. This is their explanation:

Q. Where does the census bureau get the right to ask the questions?

A. In 1929 the Republican Congress, under President Herbert Hoover, passed a census law. While it did not specifically say census takers should ask such a question about income, it said:

"The number, form and subdivisions of the inquiries used to take the census shall be determined by the director of the census, with the approval of the secretary of commerce." Hauser decided the question should be asked.

Q. Did Hauser decide that all by himself, on his own?

A. No. This question about income was asked in 1940 before Hauser was in his present position. It is being asked again now, say the officials, because income information is important in a number of ways: For a knowledge of the American economy; so business-men can learn where their best markets lie; and so on.

The bureau was asked to ask it by a number of business groups which include the National Industrial Conference Board, the National Association of Motor Bus Operators, The U. S. Savings and Loan League, The Institute of Life Insurance.

Q. Why was the question about income first asked in 1940?

A. It wasn't. That was just one kind of question about income. Questions about it—for example, on property value, mortgages, and others—have been asked in every census for 100 years, or since 1850. And, the officials say, questions on income have been an important part of the census taken every five years among farmers for 30 years.

Q. Will the census takers be the neighbors of people they question?

A. In many cases they probably will be. For this work, which lasts only until the census is complete, each census-taker will interview

Violent Blast Fatal to Five

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., Dec. 13

—(P)—Five persons were killed last night in a violent blast that shattered an antique shop while a fire inspector was searching for the source of escaping gas.

Five others persons were injured. One of them was blown 200 feet.

Only the chimney of the three-story house remained standing today.

Arthur B. Wilson's body was not found until this morning. The others were recovered while flames were still raging through the wreckage.

Wilson's wife, Florence, was in serious condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac. She was found in a ravine 200 feet from the house.

The blast shook this quiet and fashionable suburb north of Detroit at 9 P. M. Windows were broken over an area of three square miles.

Who Profited From Recent Coal Strike?

Who gained from the coal strike? Did the miners win anything? Did industrial leaders who own the mines obtain anything worth fighting for? Did John L. Lewis make any contribution to the well-being of either his miners or the nation?

The answers are fairly clear. No one won. The miners lost several weeks of pay. The coal mine managers lost the production of several million tons of coal. No serious hardship occurred because everyone backed down rapidly. John L. Lewis showed that he is still the undisputed dictator of the lives of his miners, and though many of them grumbled, they nevertheless followed him blindly. When he said, "Stop," they quit. When he said, "Go Back," they returned.

The only lesson derived by Americans at large from the whole episode is the truth that any situation in which one man or one group of men can lock out others or call them out on strike is intolerable in an industrial economy. The sooner we create a change in this condition to prevent monopolistic practices in labor-management relations, the healthier our country will be. Whatever contributions to the progress of compulsory arbitration before rather than after a dispute becomes critical contributes to the welfare of our society.

Tragic Irony

Every American would do well to consider a statement made recently by John Foster Dulles, in which he said: "If ever the great United States can find no solutions except in terms of more power in a central government, if we find it more and more necessary to regiment the individual... then the Communists can say that they are the ones who are really providing world leadership, that we are following in their wake, and that they are riding the wave of the future."

Commenting on this, William Henry Chamberlin, the distinguished publicist and foreign correspondent, wrote in the Wall Street Journal: "The danger we face... is a disease that has proved fatal to empires and great societies in the past. It is the creeping paralysis that sets in with the inevitability of a law of nature when a government, however benevolent or well-intentioned, sets out on the course of solving the individual's problems for him, of replacing individual creative effort and initiative by state planning and state decree. This kind of experiment has never succeeded. It has always led in the end to moral and political and economic weakening, decay and downfall."

It is a tragic irony that many men of high position are advocating these policies of statism which we are fighting abroad, at enormous cost in money and effort. We have accepted the responsibility of organizing the western world against Communism. Let us show by example here at home that we understand what that responsibility entails, and have the strength to practice what we preach.

Help For the Stranger

A woman in a not far distant city was somewhat annoyed the other day over loss of her purse and $9 to a pickpocket. It was not the loss which aroused her ire so much as the fact that she pursued the pickpocket for a block repeating the cry "Thief", and the chase led past a number of onlookers who paid no attention.

This woman certainly has just cause for irritation, if Americans have become so indifferent to the troubles of their neighbors as this incident would indicate. This is a kind of indifference which once was supposed to be limited to cruder civilizations.

How To Pick A Christmas Tree

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Ladies, I've been a bad boy.

And if Santa Claus is to come my way this year, you're going to have to get me out of the doghouse.

How can you help? By going out and buying a big fistful of Christmas neckties and giving them to the men in your lives.

About a week ago I bemoaned the fact that women were allowed by law to present neckties as Christmas gifts. I suggested the formation of a society to stop the custom.

Well, I didn't expect to be nominated man-of-the-year for this suggestion. Nor did I expect grateful fellow men to set up statues in my honor—minus a necktie—on every courthouse lawn.

On the other hand neither did I expect to end up in the doghouse. But here I am—stuck in it up to my cravat.

The first reaction came from my own wife.

"So you don't think women are smart enough to pick out neckties, Rover?" said France, baring a bicuspid. "You'll be lucky if you get even a bowtie from me, smarty. And where, anyhow, is that fur coat you promised me 12 years ago? Are you waiting for the minks to die of old age?"

Right on top of that, Byron Fish, columnist of the Seattle Times, wanted to know if I was trying to ruin his annual Christmas party.

It seems that Seattle men are proud of the neckties their wives give them. Last Dec. 29th they held a "National Necktie Party Day" on which every man proudly wore the most flamboyant tie on his Christmas rack.

They were going to give a grand prize, but unfortunately the judges went color blind by mid-day. This year Byron's to give them blinders.

As if I wasn't feeling bad enough, along came a telegram from Pete Hoyt, managing editor of the Cedar Rapids, Ia., Gazette, claiming I had insulted a fine old Xmas tradition.

"Ten men's clothing stores here are cussing you," he said. "Eighty percent of ties are bought by women for their menfolk. Some men would never wear a necktie if some woman didn't buy it for him. Think what a drab world it would be without Christmas neckties."

Pete insisted "some women" have good taste in ties and said

Diet and Health Trouble Possible After Tonsillectomy

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

OPERATIONS for the removal of the tonsils usually present few difficulties. There is, however, one hazard against which the surgeon must always be on guard—the possibility of excessive bleeding.

This possibility includes two types of bleeding: one which may occur within the first 20 to 24 hours after operation; another which comes on later, sometimes occurring 10 days after operation.

The early bleeding may be due to the fact that a blood clot forms in the tonsillar bed, and bleeding occurs beneath this clot.

Throat Infection

The later bleeding may result from a number of conditions, such as the development of an acute throat infection or infection in some other part of the body, a deficiency in diet, especially of vitamins and proteins, high blood pressure, local injuries to the tissues of the throat, certain disorders of the blood, and from certain pain-relieving drugs, notably aspirin, which may be administered during the recovery period.

In order to avoid chances of such bleeding, the patient is carefully studied before operation to determine whether or not he has a dietary deficiency or some blood disorder which may interfere with the blood clotting.

These include anemia or lack of coloring and red cells in the blood.

leukemia, in which there is an increase in the number of white cells, and hemophilia, a disorder in which bleeding occurs although the cause has not been determined. There is also a condition known as purpura in which bleeding occurs in some cases due to a decrease in the number of blood platelets. These are bits of tissue in the blood which take part in the blood clotting.

Immediately upon removal of the tonsils, any bleeding is controlled by the physician. Sometimes preparations to speed up the clotting of the blood are applied to the raw area.

Careful Instructions

Following operation, the patient is carefully instructed in regard to food, eating, and other factors which may possibly injure the tissues and start bleeding.

The physician will avoid the giving of any drugs which may interfere with blood clotting and thus produce bleeding.

It has been found that following tonsillectomy, the use of lozenges, made up of a local anesthetic and a substance known as tyrothricin, may aid in preventing hemorrhages and speeding up healing.

Little Boy Saved By Mother's Breath

AKRON, Dec. 13.—(AP)—Two-year-old Donald Muccino was "coming along fine" today at St. Thomas Hospital—his life saved by his mother's fast-thinking.

The mother, Madeline, 33, blew her breath into her only child after the little fellow went limp and stopped breathing. She had been bathing him in warm water to stop convulsions.

While Mrs. Muccino gave the first-aid treatment, her husband, Dominic, a garage mechanic, called police who sent an ambulance with oxygen equipment.

The American eagle appears on a greater variety of early hand-made American glassware than pictures of any other devices, or personage. Portrait busts of George Washington were the second most popular.

Practical Uses Found for New Type Ace X-ray

Killing Powers Greater Than In Ordinary Rays

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
URBANA, Ill., Dec. 13—(P)—You can pick off atoms with some new sharpshooting X-rays at the University of Illinois.

This is a new kind of marksmanship, with many promising uses the X-ray sharpshooting was developed by Dr. George L. Clark, of the department of chemistry. Ordinary X-rays are like decks of playing cards, except that instead of 52 there are thousands. Each ray differs from the others in wave lengths.

The new way of making X-rays produces nothing but aces. All have the same wave length. The ordinary rays are made by shooting a stream of electrons against a piece of tungsten metal. The new rays are made by targets of molybdenum, copper, iron, nickel, chromium and cobalt. Each kind of metal produces a different X-ray.

Both for seeing the invisible, and for killing powers, these ace X-rays surpass anything else of their kind. Each class of rays selects some substances as preferred targets, and bypasses the others.

Practical Uses
In practical use one of these monochromatic (single-color) rays will reveal certain details in a solid object, which may be anything from a metal casting, to the flesh and bone of your injured hand. After you get a view of these details, you switch to another ace ray, which shows you some different, but additional details. And so on with one ray after another.

For the X-ray man, this like

THE YOUNG MAN who describes himself as "Prince Otto Wilhelm von Hohenzollern" is shown in Mexico City with his bride, the former Virginia Kirk of New Orleans, and her mother, Mrs. Adele Kirk. Members of the German royal family have branded him as an imposter. A Bamberg, Germany, umbrella maker says the "Prince" is his son, who has been missing since 1944 when reported killed in action. (International) having a dozen eyes instead of one.

In killing power, the ace rays may be made thousands of times stronger than the ordinary rays. Thus some germs and micro-organisms that usually take hours for X-ray killing will die in a few seconds.

It is hoped to use these rays to do selective killing, which is real atomic sharpshooting. An example is making vaccines. Each germ or virus that causes disease, also carries the antidote, in the form of a mysterious substance called antibody. The vaccine is something that will produce plenty of the antidote but at the same time kill or curb the germs or viruses. A difficulty is frequently that whatever kills the microbe, also destroys the antidote. With the selective X-rays it should be possible to find ace beams to kill or inactive the microbes, without destroying the antibody.

The ace rays produce more mutations than ordinary x-rays, and produce them faster. The mutations than ordinary X-rays, ary experiments indicate that the ace rays have 260 times greater biological effect than ordinary X-rays of the same energy. This disproves a generally accepted belief that biological effects are independent of wave length.

Cure for Hiccups Now Sought Again

TOLEDO, Dec. 13—(P)—Gordon Stutler wonders today whether Epsom salts and chicken could be a temporary cure for his mouth's siege of hiccups. "About 10 Saturday night I took some Epsom salts and ate a chicken leg," he said. "Shortly afterwards the hiccups quit. I thought I was cured but they started again at 4 P. M. Sunday." Stutler since Nov. 12 had had to enlist the help of neighbors in answering his telephone, so many people call to offer cures.

Thumb Is Cut off But Death Escaped

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 13—(AP)—George Masnager, 67, was sitting on tracks of the Santa Fe Railway when he heard a train coming.

Delta Kappa Gamma Society Initiates Three Members At Banquet Monday Evening

Miss Marjorie Evans was the presiding officer of Alpha Delta Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, national honorary education society, at the annual initiation on Monday evening, at the Washington Country Club. New members taken into the society are Mrs. N. M. Reiff, Mrs. G. H. Biddle, and Miss Jane Trent.

The beautiful and elaborate ritual of the Delta Kappa Gamma was used and officers assisting at the ceremonial were Miss Evans, Miss Opal Davis, Mrs. Elton Elliot, Miss Kathleen Davis, Miss Gladys Melson, Miss Amelia Pensyl, and Miss Margaret Gibson. Sponsors for the initiates were Dr. Ruth Teeters, Miss Jane Durant, and Miss Ruth Stecher. Miss Priscilla White was the chairman of the initiation.

The club room had been converted into a veritable fairy land with Christmas trees loaded with bells, lights, holly, snow scenes, and gifts for all. There were candles, greenery with Santa Claus in various poses presiding over all. Yet dominating all else were the crimson and gold colors and the red roses of Delta Kappa Gamma.

The hostesses for the evening who did the decorating were Miss Marian Christopher, Mrs. Florence Lust, Miss Margaret Gibson, and Dr. Ruth Teeters. The social committee, Mrs. Faye Mayo, Miss Marian Christopher, Miss Bess Cleaveland, and Miss Ruth Stecher had charge of the banquet. The delicious turkey dinner with accessories was served at large round tables.

Souvenirs at each plate were Santa Claus place cards, program booklets, song cards, and handsome writing pads in metal covers, the gift of Miss Marjorie Evans.

Miss Kathleen Davis led the assemblage in singing the Delta Kappa Gamma song and Christmas carols with Miss Marian Christopher at the piano. Mrs. Mina Morris charmed her audience with her exquisite reading of the Christmas Story—The Little Mixer—by Lillian Shearon.

Under the direction of Mrs. Doris Dick a generous candy treat was sent to Miss Nita Gullick's school of 250 children, Nottingham, England, with a box of candy for each of the seven teachers.

The theme announced for Alpha Delta Chapter's study for the year is "International Relations—A Means of Building World Peace."

Church Society Christmas Party At Noble Home

The tempting meal served buffet, from one long table was enjoyed at small tables and places were found marked with red and green nut cups filled with "Christmas goodies."

Later a business session was held under the direction of the president, Mrs. Edgar McFadden, opening with impressive devotionals in charge of Mrs. Charles Cunningham. The song "O Come All Ye Faithful" was followed with the reading of the Christmas Story found in St. Luke, the song "Silent Night," and prayer by Mrs. John Glenn, which closed the worship period. The usual reports were heard and special reports on five Thanksgiving baskets sent were also given in conjunction with the Bloomingburg WSCS along with fifteen calls on shut-ins who all received small gifts in charge of Mrs. Arthur Engle. The society also decided to work with the Bloomingburg Lions Club, on the project of supplying toys to needy children at Christmas time and a committee was appointed to have charge of the project.

Additional gifts were brought to the meeting and were turned over to Mrs. Madison Swope who will distribute them to deserving children at Christmas time.

Use of Water In New York Is Curtailed Again

Shortage Is Acute
In Biggest City;
Car Washing Banned

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—(AP)—The world's biggest city doesn't have enough water today to let its residents wash their cars.

As authorities worked to plug the holes in New York's fast-emptying water barrel, new restrictions were imposed to conserve remaining supplies.

All "non-essential" use of water was out, by order of Water Commissioner Stephen J. Carney.

He directed:
All automobile washing be "completely stopped."

There be no flooding of tennis courts or filling of pools for winter ice skating.

Cleaning of tiled walls in subway stations be halted for the duration of the shortage.

At the same time, the police department was mobilizing an army of several thousand civilian "water wardens" to canvass homes and urge dwellers to save water.

The "Pledge of Allegiance" to the American flag was written in 1892 by Francis Bellamy.

Water Police on Job
Wearing armbands marked "police," some wardens already were on the job.

If they find leaky faucets or residents who are wasting water, they are to report the conditions to authorities.

Coupled with this, the city has raised the fine for leaky plumbing from $2 to $5 for each day of the offense.

But the penalty for other water wasters could be more. A Brooklyn magistrate collected a $10 fine from a man for washing his car in front of his home.

The new restrictions stemmed from what Carney called an "increasingly acute situation."

The city's upstate and Westchester County reservoirs, sapped by unusually heavy consumption combined with a season of light rainfall, were down to about 83-658,000,000 gallons, about one-third of capacity.

View With Alarm
New York could become a "ghost city," says Chief Water Engineer Edward J. Clark, if the needed rains don't come.

Joining the city in its conservation efforts, the American Dental Association told its members to turn off taps in mouth-washing bowls, except when in use by patients.

The American society for the prevention of cruelty to animals began modifying control valves to check the flow of water in horse watering troughs.

WILMINGTON, DEL.—MISS VIRGINIA MARK, formerly of Washington C. H., (second from right second row) will sing with the Du Pont Chorus in its fourth annual Christmas broadcast on the "Cavalcade of America" program over NBC at 8:00 P. M., EST, December 20. Miss Mark is employed in the Du Pont Company's office buildings department in Wilmington.
Crawford H. Greenwalt, president of the Du Pont Company, will deliver the president's annual message to the company's 75,000 employees throughout the United States, a traditional feature of the "Cavalcade" Christmas broadcast.
The chorus of 127 men and women employed in the Wilmington home office area of the Du Pont Company will sing Christmas carols, spirituals, and sacred music.

In banning car washing, Carney said:

"I regret this step, but it is an absolute necessity in the over-all interest of more than eight million citizens of New York City."

The directive applies to owners of private cars, taxi fleet operators, bus companies and auto laundries.

The save-water campaign, being pressed by newspaper and radio, was apparently having its effect. One woman called city hall, and asked:

"Is it all right to take a shower?"

The Record-Herald

Announces

The Appointment of

Lawrence Pollard

As

Circulation Manager

Lawrence (Polly) Pollard

"Polly" is well qualified to serve in the position of Circulation Manager of the Record-Herald.

He was born in Sabina, Ohio and has lived in Washington C. H., most of his life.

The problems of carrier boys are easy to understand for "Polly," as he carried newspapers at the start of his career.

For brief periods he has been associated with local industrial plants but for the most part a newspaper career has been his chief aim.

"Polly" now directs the 25 local youths who deliver Record-Heralds in Washington C. H., plus 5 others located in adjoining towns. In addition, he will supervise deliveries to the rural homes of Fayette and adjoining counties and local newstands.

"Polly" is married and the father of four children, three girls and a boy.

The Record-Herald management realizes the importance of quick, efficient home delivery service and announces the appointment of Lawrence Pollard as its full time Circulation Manager.

Circulation Manager duties are not at all new to "Polly," as he has served in that position for the past six years, for three leading Columbus newspapers.

"Polly" will remain at the Record-Herald office until 6 P. M. each evening to answer phone calls and see that deliveries are made.

We are sure you'll find "Polly" ready to answer your questions as well as to receive any ideas or comments you wish to make.

Miami Open Won by Haas In Playoff

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 13 —(AP)—Freddy Haas, Jr., a comparative newcomer to the professional golfing ranks, won first money in Miami's 26th annual Open Golf Tournament yesterday by defeating Bob Hamilton in a dramatic 18-hole playoff by two strokes.

It was the 33-year-old former national intercollegiate champion's second major triumph since he turned professional in 1946.

His first victory also was won in a playoff when he defeated Johnny Palmer and Ben Hogan in an extra round for the Portland, Ore., open in 1948.

Haas, New Orleans pro, carded a one-under par 35-34—69 against the veteran Hamilton's one over par 35-36-71.

Hamilton, pro from Landover, Md., suffered a bad case of putting jitters in the nerve-wracking playoff and lost all his holes by missing short putts.

Haas received $2,000 and Hamilton $1,400 plus $127 each as their share of the gate receipts from the playoff round.

Fraternal League Marked by Upsets

The mighty Elks were handed a two-out-of-three jolt by the Mt. Sterling Boosters and the hard plugging Universals came through with a three-game victory over the Lions in Monday night's Fraternal League bowling at Bowland.

S. Paulin, with 566, and N. Crooks, with 551, sparked the Boosters to a 2623 total (with 72 handicap) that edged out the Elks with a flat 2567.

The Universals had little trouble with the Lions, thanks to their 219 handicap. The losers had the high individual scores—McLean 544 and Thrallkill 523.

With three of the Record-Herald crew going over 500, the first and last games were taken from the Rotarians. Dunton, 564, was high for the Rotarians and Speakman, 540, topped the R-H outfit.

After dropping the opener to the Sabina Moose, the Country Clubbers came back to win the last two.

Lion Cagers Improve As Home Opener Near

With the first home game of the season for the WHS Lion cagers coming up Friday night, high school authorities and some of the team's ardent boosters today were beginning to wonder whether the basketballers would get the same kind of sideline support they have had in the last few years.

The slowness with which the reserved seat tickets for the home games have been going is what is causing concern. Although they were made available more than two weeks ago, there still are about 60 left. Principal Arthur Wohlers revealed.

The Lions have played three games this season—and while they have lost all three, the faithful who accompanied the team, say the defeats were no disgrace in the light of the kind of competition the WHS boys faced.

No one is brash enough to predict a championship team, the

One Clean Sweep In Ladies League

The Montgomery Ward girls turned in the only three-game win in the Ladies League bowling at Bowland Monday night, but the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home quintet had the high team score of 2107 without handicap.

The Candymakers were white-washed by the Montgomery Warders, but the Morris Store team took two out of three from the Kirkpatrick.

The NCR girls lost the opener to the Try-Me-Taxis, but came back to win the last two.

The Loudner team won the first two from Funk's Restaurant crew from Jeffersonville, but were nosed out by 12 pins in the finale.

KINGSRIDGE

by Alice Ross Colver

SYNOPSIS
The proud King family is greatly distressed by the return to Kingsridge, their home, of the young Captain Gerry Barton, son of the Air Force. Granddaughter Susan has fallen under the spell of the charming, handsome Donald champions. Susan's parents, Major Frank and Audrey Park, are concerned by this turn of events, but wise old Judge King takes matters in hand, reviewing Barton's past, the judge realizes that the young man's life has been embittered by the poverty of his youth, the untimely death of his father in a mining camp town, the shocking death of his mother beneath the wheels of a truck.

CHAPTER EIGHT
STEVEN'S mind went on... He had felt that the twelve-year-old Gerry should be brought into his own home. But Elizabeth had divined and forestalled this thought. She had said immediately that the sharp-eyed, tousle-headed youngster with his bold, wild ways and his knowledge of evil would be a bad influence on young Donald and little Susan. Let him be sent to a good school out of reach of his old associates here for a few years. Then, later, perhaps.

Steven, both conscience-stricken and relieved, had acceded to the wisdom of this proposal without argument. Yes, Elizabeth had controlled his thinking that once. And Gerry had been packed off to a good school in New England with his vacations arranged for on a farm nearby. But, undisciplined and defiant of restraint, he had been a problem from the first. Neither the school nor the farm family had been gripped when, the next year, he had disappeared. Elizabeth, too, had been relieved. "Well," she had said, "we've done everything we could. Now we can wash our hands of him." Steven had not agreed. In his heart he knew they had not done everything. For they had passed their responsibility on to strangers. They had withheld the warmth of human affection.

He had instigated a search, of course, but Gerry had not been found. He said now to his wife, "I agree with you that regrets are useless. But if he wants anything I shall have to help him get it." "Steven!" He looked at her in surprise. "What's the matter with that?" "Because what he wants is Susan."

He drew his gray brows together, annoyed, as always, by her feminine and utterly irrational way of jumping to conclusions, and more annoyed by his remembrance that often she was right. But until he had arrived at the same end by a more logical approach he could never accept her findings. He said, "I think you're anticipating, my dear. There's no reason." "I don't need reason," she snapped. "I know."

In the same room that Audrey had had as a girl here in this house, she and Frank were making ready for bed. He had undressed quickly and now sat in his pajamas smoking, his elbows on his knees, a little dish into which he flicked his ashes, on the floor.

Individual stores are setting some peak sales records, but a blight has settled on others, pushing them far behind in the race for Christmas business. Every year since 1933 there has been an increase in department store sales and in total retail sales. Last year was the all-time record.

This year the general guess of the experts is that sales will be lower than last year—by a margin of less than five percent. But Christmas is the big spending season. Some merchants have been pulled out of the red at Christmas so many times they believe in Santa Claus.

Last year the unexpected happened. There was a final rush Christmas week that kicked the year to a record. It could happen again, analysts agree, but those dollars are going to have to roll even faster than they do now.

First Turkey Supper Held At Good Hope

140 Attend Event Held in Wayne Hall Auditorium

Wayne Township Farm Bureau families turned out in a group Monday evening for their annual township Farm Bureau meeting and turkey supper at Wayne Hall.

The women of the township had arranged a large number of beautifully decorated tables in the large hall and from a long counter completely filled with roast turkey, mashed potatoes, gravy and numerous other dishes with pie and cake for dessert, the 140 members and their families marched by and took of the bounteous food supplied.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: Howard Stewart, chairman; Paul Pope, vice-chairman; and Mrs. Betty Hoppes, secretary. The chairman of each township becomes the township representative on the county Farm Bureau Board of Directors. This makes a very democratic organization with a members determining policies on the board.

The chairman reported that membership work was progressing and that all but less than 20 had renewed for the coming year with a number of new Farm Bureau families already enrolled.

The program presented after the supper with the chairman acting as toastmaster, consisted of recitation, "Doing Up the Dishes" by John A. McFadden. Reading of the minutes of the previous annual meeting by Mrs. Wilbur Hoppes. Remarks by Reverend Frazer. Report on home demonstration work in the township by Mrs. Norma Campbell, home demonstration agent. Report on Farm Bureau Insurance by Paul P. Mohr.

Glen L. Smith, treasurer of the County Farm Bureau, and Verne Wilson, president of the Fayette County Farm Bureau Cooperative association, were called on for remarks.

County Agent W. W. Montgomery introduced the two 4-H club leaders in the township, Mrs. Lawrence Hoppes, and Charles Blizard.

He then introduced Jack Jennings of the Department of Information, Ohio Farm Bureau Federation, who spoke on the subject of "Editing the Ohio Farm Bureau News" and the "Farm and Home News." He pointed out that public relations was a big factor of an organization such as the Farm Bureau and gave several instances where accomplishments had been made with the proper approach to other groups. For instance, the work of the legislative program in having a congressional spokesman in each of the congressional districts. Over the last three or four years, trips have been made to Washington, D. C., with these different congressional spokesmen. Jennings also stressed the work of the home and community committees in the counties and the Farm Bureau councils of which Fayette County has sixteen active councils.

Low Cost Housing

L. Sorenson, state director of the program, "has reported he can use the entire amount earmarked for Ohio, and implied that he may ask for more."

Additional sums will be available if needed, Bertsch said.
Many eligible farmers do not yet know they can get loans, he said. To qualify, a borrower must own his farm, prove he lacks adequate housing or other farm buildings, cannot borrow the money elsewhere, and lacks resources of his own.

He must show an adequate equity, after which he can borrow up to the amount of his equity for as long as 33 years at 4 percent interest, the law provides. For instance, if a farm worth $10,000 is mortgaged for $5,000, he can borrow $3,000 more from the government.

County Courts

The $480 damage action of the Farm Bureau Mutual Insurance Co., and Fayette County Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, against the Continental Baking Co., of Columbus, was drawing to a close Tuesday, in common pleas court here.

Judge Geo. W. McDowell, of Highland County, is on the bench instead of Judge R. H. Rankin, and a jury was hearing the evidence.

DIVORCE SUIT

Jake Hunley, Bloomingburg, has filed his petition in the common pleas court asking for divorce from Cerette Hunley, Cincinnati, to whom he was married April 3, 1931, at Crab Orchard, Ky. The parties have one daughter. Gross neglect of duty is charged by the plaintiff who is represented by Junk and Junk.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Betty Mongold has been granted a divorce from Alonzo Mongold, on grounds of gross neglect of duty, and the plaintiff was awarded $100 alimony.

CASE DISMISSED

A divorce action filed by Donna Morris against Loy Morris, has been dismissed by Judge H. M. Rankin.

SUIT DISMISSED

Upon application of the plaintiff the divorce suit of James Matthews against Ruth Matthews, a minor, has been dismissed.

Driver is Fined Following Wreck

The driver was headed south on the highway about 9:30 P. M. Monday, and his auto took a ditch, and went through a fence into a brooder house that was setting in the field.

The driver received leg injuries and his wife was painfully hurt. He was arrested by a state highway patrolman and taken before Mayor Harry Junk, in Mt. Sterling.

Texas Eastern Offers $3,500 For Damages

Commissioners Ask $4500 For Blast Damaged Bridge

Representatives of the Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., and insurance firms, appeared before the Fayette County Commissioners Monday, and offered $3,500 in settlement for damages done by a heavy blast to a steel bridge over Deer Creek a short distance north of Waterloo.

The commissioners, after having engineers to check the damaged structure, last summer sent Texas Eastern a bill for $5,000 for the extensive damage to the structure. In a counter moved Monday the commissioners offered to compromise for $4,500.

No agreement could be reached and the matter was allowed to stand temporarily, with $1,000 difference between the two amounts involved.

The bridge was badly damaged last summer when a heavy charge of dynamite was set off in Deer Creek, to blast a trench in the limestone bed of the stream, for the 26 inch pipe line which was laid in the channel.

The blast was within a few yards of the bridge and as a result the bridge was nearly blown off of its foundations, and badly twisted and weakened.

It was necessary to make repairs on the bridge before it could be used.

Those appearing before the commissioners in an effort to affect the compromise were: Reed Bradway, of Brown and Root, Inc., who represented the Associated Pipeline Construction Co., and Texas Eastern Transmission Corp.; R. W. Kennedy, Texas Eastern; C. Jack Middaugh, chief inspector for Texas Eastern; W. H. Scuyler, Texas Eastern; J. I. Miller, Travelers Insurance Co., and R. D. Tausing, insurance representative.

Drivers Cited By State Patrol

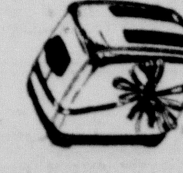

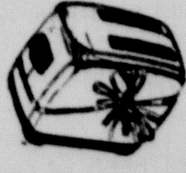

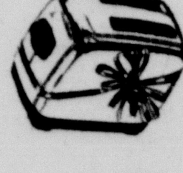

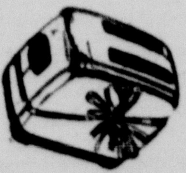

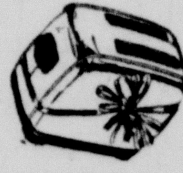

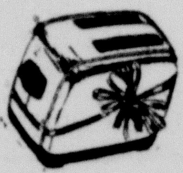

State highway patrolmen cited three drivers for violation of traffic laws, Monday.

Elmer Lilley, driving 85 miles on the Chillicothe Highway, posted $35 bond which he forfeited. Robert Crawford, Mt. Sterling, drew $10 and costs for having no lights.

Joy H. Hunt, Columbus, for reckless operation, posted $35 bond for appearance later.

The attorney general was not a member of the president's cabinet until 1814.

Future Teachers Attend Banquet

Girls and Guests At Annual Affair

Fifty girls from WHS and their guests sat down to holiday decorated tables arranged in the shape of a "W" Monday night in the school cafeteria.

The occasion was the annual Christmas banquet of the Future Teachers Club.

On hand to help the girls celebrate were Superintendent Stephen Brown, Principal Arthur E. Wohlers, Jack White, William Bowman, Gordon Ryder and Mark Shaper.

After a three course meal, the gathering heard a talk by one of the first school teachers in Fayette County, Mrs. Minette Fritts.

She told of her various experiences in the civil service under Governor Willis, her work in social service helping delinquents, and other pursuits she had followed in life.

Portraying the woman teacher as the universal mother, Mrs. Fritts spoke of the need for good teachers for guiding boys and girls in school.

Concluding her talk to the girls, Mrs. Fritts said, "Success can be achieved if one just makes up his mind."

After this talk, the gathering was treated to musical selections by some of the future teachers.

Dixie Lee Ellison accompanied by Helen Hynes sang "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth" and "Christmas Island". Miss Hynes then played a piano solo, "Polish Dance" by Scharwenka.

With William Bowman at the piano, the whole gathering participated in group singing.

The banquet was arranged by a program committee consisting of Lois Cherryholmes, chairman, Peggy Reichelderfer and Barbara West.

Decorations and serving were supervised by Dianne Elliott and her committee of Mary Lou Biehn, Sandra Campbell, Shirley Hickman, Joanne Stackhouse, Josephine Hurles, Susanne Dawes and Joanne Robinson.

Carolers to Sing At Funeral Home

If everything goes on schedule, the annual display of Christmas lights at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home here will blaze forth for the first time Thursday night.

On hand to lend to the festive atmosphere will be a group of carolers composed of those around the county who have been coming to the informal songests that have been held here the last few months.

At the invitation of Ansel W. Kirkpatrick, the songsters will gather on the funeral home porch for a half hour or so of carol singing starting at 7:30 P. M.

This year, Kirkpatrick said, the house will be trimmed with blue lights while all the trees on the lawn will have the traditional Christmas illumination.
